Plamondon Chamber Hears Report On Incorporation

Rev. Father Croteau and Paul Piquette reported to the Plamondon Chamber of Commerce on the pros and cons of the incorporation of the hamlet of Plamondon.

They gave information received from the Department of Municipal Affairs, the Town and Village Act and from a visit with Lac la Biche town secretary, Fred Creighton.

The men were asked to continue their investigation.

A committee report by Jean Menard on the Ball Club's plans for the summer was given.

Claude Gauthier who was appointed at the last meeting to look into the question of fire protection for Plamondon and district reported on the price of various types of firefighting equipment. The general concensus of opinion was that a used tanker truck with a suitable pump was probably the best type of equipment for this area.

William Plamondon reported that the fire siren was now in operation. Robert Piquette was appointed to be in charge of the siren, which will be operated every Thursday at 12 noon for a brief period.

The secretary was instructed to write to the department of highways requesting more gravel on the road from Plamondon to Highway 46.

Dick Tracy, No. 1 Sleuth

Starting this week, we are happy to present to our readers a four-page comic supplement, with one of the most popular of all comic strips—Dick Tracy.

Dick Tracy started out as just another comic strip. It has become a part of the language and a newspaper legend.

Since the first strip in 1931, it has made the news columns often, and there probably never has been a more talked about newspaper feature.

Dick Tracy flows over into the news columns when its story-line finds strange parallels in real-life crime, and when it illustrates advanced techniques of crime detection and prevention, often long before they are in practical use.

The square-jawed hero began his career when the father of his girl friend, Tess Trueheart, was slain in his delicatessen store store by hold-up men. Tracy vowed to avenge his death, offered his services to police, and soon became a member of the plain-clothes squad.

DICK TRACY

Since then it has been one wily villian after another.

Readers will long remember such characters as Spaldoni, Doc Hump, Stooge Viller, B-B Eyes, Mrs. Pruneface, The Brow, Flattop and Mumbles.

They make an awesome rogues' gallery. But all are odly believable after the first shock of introduction wears off.

Chester Gould, creator of this No. 1 sleuth, gets out the strip from his luxurious home near Woodstock, Ill.

He says he never thinks through the plot, but just gets Tracy into the toughest jam he can think of, then extricates him the best way he can.

Whatever the system, it has worked ever since Capt. Joseph Medill Patterson, founder of The News, accepted Gould's strip, after Gould had been trying hard for 10 years to click in the comics.

He made it big with Tracy, Tess Trueheart, now his wife; Bonnie Braids, their daughter; Sam Catchem, Tracy's plain-clothes sidekick; Lizz, a police-woman; Chief Patton, Tracy's boss; Gravel Gertie, an odd-ball, and her husband, B.O. Plenty, an odder-ball—and a host of other figures.

HARDLY IN LIMELIGHT

Right now action in the strip centers around E. Kent Hardly and his voluptuous wife.

Hardly has inherited a fortune of $1,736,427.80 from a long-lost brother who headed a slot machine empire. What makes this situation piquant is that the money is in the currency of slot machine empires—all in ickels, dimes and quarters.

Hardly soon finds out that money is a worrisome thing.

Join 60 million readers in awaiting the outcome. See Dick Tracy on Page One of the comic section.

River Boats North Bound

Two north-bound boats have left Waterways and the northern lake shipping season has slipped into first gear.

A Northern Transportation Co. official said the two boats going down the Athabasca River are bound for Fort Fitzgerald, with general supplies.

The official said it is not known yet if Lake Athabasca is open, and "the boatmen won't know until they get there."

However, a pilot for Eldorado Aviation, who has made frequent trips over the lake in the past few days, said the ice is not out yet.

Northern Alberta Railways are moving freight to be stored in preparation for the opening of the lake.

In the 14th century some fashionable Englishmen wore shoes so long the toes were fastened to their knees.

NOMINATION MEETING TIME AT LAC LA BICHE

By HENRY J. THOMPSON

Three hundred people assembled in Lac la Biche to nominate or observe nomination of a candidate for the next provincial election. The meeting advertized for three o'clock in the afternoon bore no semblance of order until 5:15. McMurray which has never before had a delegate at a convention had delegates and so did other points along the NAR line.

At four o'clock people were still waiting patiently, some action by the Social Credit constituency executive. Between four and five, the place echoed with voices of people clustered in groups talking vehemently and growing more impatient, wildly louder, desperately anxious to get something started in the nomination business. Rumors flew wide and fast that the meeting was held up waiting the arrival of speakers from Edmonton or that the executive refused to assume their duties and failed to put in an appearance.

A loud voice, inspired by political fervor (and possibly from the fount where weak spirts receive great aspirations) started a near riot by shouting at the top of his voice, "Where is Michetti! We want Michetti!" A gentle voiced person of slight build endeavored to quiet the man and then ordered him to shut up. A shoving tussle ensued but the antagonists were parted by friends. Other altercations took place in the next half hour.

At last Mr. Caran, secretary of the organization, seeing the crowd fast becoming an unruly mob, moved to the front in an endeavor to bring order out of chaos.

Mr. Martin, the vice-president and acting president, read an item from the meeting on March 26, whereby Mr. Michetti having decided to become a candidate in the forthcoming election: resigned his position as president in favor of Mr. Martin. Mr. Martin would assume all the duties of president.

Mr. Martin then announced that the executive had decided to postpone the nomination for two weeks at the same place and the same time. No explanation was given for this decision.

To sum up the whole disagreeable situation the following kernels of assumption can be gleaned.

Among the four prospective candidates, one who had a grasp of the situation, pointed out that the suggestions mentioned in the discussion would be contrary to rules and therefore had no value. The summary discharge of present officials and the appointment of others to take their place.

Nomination Meeting At Lac la Biche

Nevertheless a motion by one of the candidates backed up by a rival was received by the secretary.

An amendment to the motion by a man mentioned as a candidate, suggested new officials be selected at the next meeting, the mover of the first motion refused the amendment.

Frequent and prolonged interruptions from the back benchers, in spite of every appeal from the platform, failed to subside the rowdy behavior of the group standing. A vote was asked for on the motion but no decision could be made as to whom were entitled to vote. I left the room at this point with the convention deadlocked. The meeting broke up shortly after with nothing accomplished.

The Social Credit constitution booklet contains all regulations and rules controlling procedure of groups, constituency and provincial conventions. Every clause article contained therein has been discussed, approved or amended at each provincial convention since 1936. It is the joint will and declaration of the majority attending provincial deliberations. It is not a government publication and is entirely the work of the majority membership.

I have consistently advocated for nine years, an amendment to the procedure where delegates select a candidate to read: Whereby no member of a Social Credit organization can vote delegates to a Social Credit nominating convention or become a candidate unless he or she has been an accredited member of the organization or group for two preceding years before a nominating convention or can present four membership cards of any year previous to the nomination year. That delegates at large be allowed one for each 50 voters at a poll or the fraction above fifty actual voters listed in the last deputy returning officer's report of votes cast.

The amendment suggested above would eliminate machine politics whereby an energetic aspirant can turn a serious business of choosing a candidate into a beauty contest at a dollar per vote, no holds barred. The dollar membership a few days previous to convention dates, gives the spurious holder the same rights and privileges of a full-fledged, dyed in the wool Social Creditor or 24 years allegiance for such a qualification can be rightly claimed by Mr. Rudolph Michetti. Perhaps the only man in the constituency able to do so.

I doubt if some of the prospective condidates could pass my suggested amendment without some difficulty.

Timesaving Closets

Well-organized closets are easier to keep clean and result in tidier rooms. If each item has a place in the closet it is more likely to be put there than thrown on a chair. Low hooks will help teach children to hang up their own outdoor garments.

Arrange everyday garments in the most accessible area. Include a hook inside the door for dressing gown and night attire. Dress-up and Sunday clothes should be stored in the next easy-to-reach area. If clothes are stored in the plastic bags in which they are returned from the cleaners, closet rub and wear will be prevented. Leave out-of-the-way corners for little-used items such as evening wear.

BOYLE VILLAGE COUNCIL

Street Paving Plans Discussed; Mobile Homes Pay License Fees

BOYLE — Plans and recommendations were made by the Village Council to the Department of Public Works at the council's April meeting regarding the paving of streets under the proposed 5 year plan of the Alberta government and concern was held by the council that before a project of paving is undertaken, service connections for water and sewer should first be laid.

A bylaw for the licensing of mobile homes in the village was passed which empowers the village to collect license fees as per a schedule by the village for all mobile homes within the village. Application for license to be made to the secretary.

A bylaw was passed for the taking of a census in the village.

It was brought to the attention of council that open water wells were on some properties which was a hazard with small children playing in these yards and the secretary was instructed to write letters to the ratepayers concerned to have proper cover hasps on these wells.

As a new subdivision has been made on Block 8 for residence lots the policy and price of the lots was given consideration and these are now offered for sale.

Discussions and plans were laid for a zoning and building bylaw on which a public hearing will be held in the library on May 21 at 2 p.m. with a representative present from the Town and Rural Planning Branch, to outline same.

Consideration was given to the disposition of the truck and water tank and it was decided to sell this by tender.

Various matters with regards public works were dispensed with as well as passing of bills.

A lengthy agenda faced council of the village in its regular monthly meeting which necessitated adjournment for another evening.

Alberta District News In Brief

Canada-Wide Work Conference Of School Superintendents, Inspectors

TWO HILLS — N. Myskiw, superintendent of schools for Two Hills School Division, is one of 70 educationists from Canada's ten provinces meeting at the University of Toronto for three weeks beginning May 11 to study problems of educational leadership in local communities.

He has been selected as a member of a short course for school superintendents and inspectors offered by the Canadian Education Association in conjunction with the Ontario College of Education.

Forty-three of the seventy are superintendents or inspectors from predominantly rural areas, selected by departments of education of the various provinces. Fourteen are city superintendents, employees of local school boards. Teacher, trustee and parent points of view will be assured by the inclusion of appointees of the Canadian Teachers' Federation, the Canadian School Trustees' Association and the Canadian Home and School and Parent - Teacher Federation. Additional places have been allotted to a superintendent of schools from the Northwest Territories, and a regional inspector of Indian schools from Nova Scotia.

This is the seventh annual course of its kind operated by the Canadian Education Association. More than one-half of Canada's inspectors and superintendents of schools have attended one of the courses. Initially financed with the help of a grant from the W. K. Kellogg Foundation, the courses are now made possible by the cooperation of the ten provinces, local school boards, and other groups selecting members. An equalization scheme has been worked out so that relative distance from Toronto does not affect the cost to a sponsoring body of sending a member to the course.

The theme of the course is "The Role of the Superintendent in Educational Leadership". Within the overall aim of working toward better education for children in the schools, the course is intended to serve four purposes: (1) to provide an opportunity for further exploration of problems in educational administration and supervision; (2) to provide an opportunity for individual members to form definite plans for later local action; (3) to provide members with an opportunity to gain further understanding of philosophies and techniques of leadership, including evaluation, group processes and communication; and (4) to stimulate the intercommunication of educational ideas and practices between widely separated areas in Canada, looking toward the identification of emerging principles of supervision and administration in a Canadian setting.

Garden Graph

By DEAN HALLIDAY

TIPS ON SELECTING SEEDLINGS

Many home gardeners buy vegetable seedlings, instead of growing them. Some tips on their selection may prove helpful.

Do not buy pale, lanky plants just because they are tall. Better buys are the short, husky ones. Strong stems, full leaves dark in color, and good root growth are better than height. Such plants will get off to a better start and give better returns after being outdoors.

The difference between a good buy and a poor buy is shown in the accompanying Garden-Graph.

When buying annual flower plants do not hope to gain time by buying seedlings already in bloom. Frequently such seedlings have been so tightly crowded in nursery flats that they have been forced to bloom prematurely.

One may even find tall-growing types of annuals in bloom when only six inches high. Actually, such plants have been stunted during the period of propagation. They seldom recover and develop normally.

If you find upon getting plants home that most of the soil has dried and fallen away from their roots, here's a first aid suggestion. Fill a pan with a thin mud mixture and keep the seedlings in this mud until transplanting time. When the plants are lifted out of the pan the mud mixture will cling to their roots and protect them against drying out.

In transplanting seedlings set the plants a little deeper than they were in their nursery flat.

Interest In Spirit River Flying School Mounts As Pilots Hold Rally

By H. E. DeBolt

There were 19 light planes on the local landing strip just north of Spirit River, Sunday, April 26, arriving from 11:30 a.m. to 12:30 p.m., which marked the most exciting and interesting event to happen in Spirt River in a long time.

Norman Hill, living in a modern Trailer home with his very pleasant mannered wife and month-old baby daughter, is the instructor in the start of a flying school, with 11 students so far enlisted with the hope of qualifying for a pilot's license in the near future.

Mr. Hill states that there should be about 20 students for economical operation, and it is hoped that more will enlist.

There were four planes from Grande Prairie, one from Sexsmith, six from Dawson Creek, one from Wanham, and four from Fort St. John.

Pen Powell from Fort St. John gave short rides to about 60 children, who had to have their parents' consent in writing before being taken for a ride. Clayton Collins lined the kiddies up and with some difficulty had them take their regular turns, two going on each flight, all of which was free, thanks to the kindness of Pen Powell.

There are three locally owned planes and it is hoped to have another similar day in the near future. The date will be announced later.

Great credit and thanks are due Dr. Law and William Thompson, as well as George Inkin who have rendered valuable help in the building of the hangar to accommodate two planes as well as keeping the landing strip in good condition, which is just north of the town and west from the community sports grounds.

Lillian Paul Describes Brussels World Fair At C of C Ladies' Night

FALHER — Miss Lillian Paul, at the annual Ladies' Night of the Chamber of Commerce, gave a first hand account of her six months at the Brussels World Fair. Miss Paul, one of the two University of Alberta students to represent Canada at the Fair, was the guest speaker for the evening.

Business was cut to a minimum, and after dinner was served Miss Paul dwelt mainly on the basic differences she encountered in Europe in comparison with Canadian living and ways.

She felt that the Canadian exposition was so typically Canadian that Europeans were fascinated, especially those who had previously lived or travelled in Canada. Canadians tended to find their portions of the Fair so "every day"; they were dissapointed, and often failed to realize that the honest and realistic portrayed by Canada was really what the Fair intended to show.

Members of the organization presented a brief case to Miss Paul at the end of her neatly-phrased impressions expressing their thanks and their pride at having a student from Falher representing Canada. It was indeed a unique honor. Miss Paul, an above-average student in school and at the University of Alberta, was well rewarded for her devotion to her studies. Only honor students, speaking two languages, were considered when guides for this display were chosen.

Miss Paul is now teaching in the High School of Routhier School and has her bachelor of arts from the University of Alberta.

Graduating Hylo Students Honored At Banquet Sponsored By Students

HYLO — Congratulations of the district are extended to the six Hylo students who are graduating from High School this year, namely Carole Keehn, Evelyn Poholski, Julie Owehar, David Lozinski, Charles Keehn and Jacques Bourassa. We are proud of them for striving so diligently to attain their goal in education. We are also proud of the parents who have such forethought and encourage and help them at home to make this possible. The teachers too deserve great credit for their patience and perserverance in guiding the students in school.

The banquet, sponsored by the Lac la Biche Students' Union was held in honor of the 1959 graduating class in the Memorial hall of Lac la Biche on Wednesday, May 6 and paid a well-earned tribute to the students. We wish them every success. The hall was attractively decorated with various colored paper baskets, filled with pink apple blossoms and pink and blue streamers joined each basket. This was the artistic work of the Grade 10 students. Catering was done by the grade 11 students and the tables were decorated with different colored souvenir baskets filled with nuts and candy. Mothers of the Grade 10 and 11 students prepared and cooked the delicious and amply supplied food. Following the banquet the graduates, parents and teachers were toasted and suitable replies were made. The valedictory address inspired high aims and ideals. Interesting and informative speeches by guest speaker, superintendent and principal were interspersed with anecdotes by the toastmaster.

Following the banquet the grand march of the graduates and their escorts brought out camera flashes everywhere. The girl graduates looked lovely in their full-skirted cocktail-length gowns and their corsages of red roses looked beautiful worn on the shoulder. The girl escorts also looked lovely attired in similar length gowns of pink, yellow, shrimp, blue or green. All the boys were handsome in their black or charcoal suits, white shirts and black bow ties.

Each graduate received a scroll and after humorous prophecies were made on the future of each student's life, the remainder of the evening was spent in dancing.
